To Whom It May Concern:

Re: Letter of Recommendation
Clifford Kettemborough

This letter serves as a recommendation for possible online teaching employment for Clifford Kettemborough.

Cliff has been teaching for me online since my arrival at Learning Tree University in October of 2000. During that time Cliff has taught classes in Java, XML, and Javascript. More recently, Cliff has also added an Introduction to Microsoft .NET class and a Programming in C# class.

During this period, Cliff's student evaluations typically indicate that he is well informed on his subjects, and delivers the written online material in a manner that thoroughly covers the subject. He logs into the class on a regular basis, and conducts discussions each well. He has also set up thoughtful exams for each subject that he teaches.

I would recommend Cliff for an online teaching position with your institution in his fields of expertise. Please feel free to contact me should you have any additional questions.

Sincerely,

Pam J. DeLotell
